Headline:

A dull and occasionally wet day.

Today:

A dull, cloudy day with occasional rain, this heavy at times, particularly for the afternoon and in the west. Best of the limited brighter spells in the Northeast. South to southwest winds occasionally freshening across coasts.

Tonight:

Cloud and rain clearing eastwards during the evening to leave clear spells and a scattering of showers, these largely focused across the Highlands and Islands. Southwest winds strengthening.

Wednesday:

Windy. Mixed but mostly fair. Majority dry, bright during morning. Cloud building northwards into central areas for afternoon, bringing risk showery rain, while separate rainband pushes more definitely into Northwest.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:

Cold snap Thursday, early Friday, with blustery showers, wintry over hills, and strong northerly winds. Turning drier late Friday, then milder Saturday as winds back southwest, pushing rainbands across country.
